Numb. 678.

So^th.-Carolina GAZETTE.

Containing the freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

From MONDAY April 6th, to MONDAY April 13th, 1747.

It is preſumed, that our inſerting at this Time the following Lines, which were written after the deciſive Battle at CULLODEN between his Majeſty's Forces commanded by his Royal Highneſs the DUKE of CUMBERLAND, and the Scotch Rebels by the Pretender's Son, will give a ſeaſonable and proper Hint to all true BRITONS, who rejoice in the happy Event of it, upon a due Reflection on the numerous Oppreſſions and Calamities which our Nation long ſuffered under the Family of the Stuarts, the Return of which we have (by the Bleſſing of God) eſcaped.

The SWEET-WILLIAM.

THE Pride of France is Lilly white;
The Roſe in June is Jacobite;
The prickly Thiſtle of the Scot
Is Northern Knighthood's Badge and Lot;
But ſince the DUKE's victorious Blows,
The Lilly, Thiſtle, and the Roſe,
All droop and fade, all die away;
Sweet WILLIAM's Flower rules the Day:
'Tis Engliſh Growth, of beauteous Hue,
Cloath'd like our Troops, in red and blue:
No Plant with brighter Luſtre grows,
Except the Laurel on his Brows,
That everlaſting Wreath of Fame,
To guard and ſpread the HERO's Name.
BRITONS, the tarniſh'd Roſe deteſt,
And ſtick Sweet-William in your Breaſt,
The factious Roſe in Pieces tear,
And this more charming Noſegay wear.
Let this remain the loyal Sign
Of BRUNSWICK's valiant, virtuous Line,
Sweet-William be the Britiſh Toaſt,
As WILLIAM is BRITANNIA's Boaſt,
The Soldier in his Caſque ſhall wear
Sweet-William, on her Breaſt the Fair,
The Flow'r ſhall nerve the Warriour's Arms,
And add new Luſtre to the Maiden's Charms.
St. George's Star, with feebler Rays,
By this victorious Flo'wr ſhall blaze;
And Knights of Bath, ſhall own their red,
Compar'd with William's purple, dead.
There is no red with this can vie,
But God-like WILLIAM's Modeſty;
Who bluſhes to deſerve the Praiſe
Which reſcued BRITAIN fondly pays.
Then let this warlike Sprig be worn,
On either white auſpicious Morn;
One gave Great WILLIAM Birth, and one
Proclaims Him GEORGE's martial SON.
In happy Order link'd we ſee
The HERO's Birth and Victory;*
And April's happy Ides ſhall welcom,
Succeſſive with Sweet-William's rich Perfume.

* The DUKE was born on the 15*th of* April, and on the 16*th gain'd the* VICTORY at CULLODEN.

LONDON, December 20.

Extract of a Letter from Marſeilles.

'WE were perſuaded here, and there is no Doubt they were likewiſe perſuaded at Court, that the Auſtrians and Piedmonteſe had laid aſide all Thoughts of invading us for this Year, but the true Reaſon of their Delays was the ſwelling of the Var. As ſoon as that River was fallen, they paſs'd it on the 29th of laſt Month with 46,000 Men. Our People were in no Condition to make any great Reſiſtance, ſo that they were ſoon in Poſſeſſion of a large Tract of Country on this ſide. They burnt ſome Villages which were deſerted, but at the ſame time declared, they meant to obſerve the ſtricteſt Diſcipline where the People continued in their Habitations, and furniſhed them with Neceſſaries according to their Abilities. The Two Cities of Vence and Grace eſcaped plundering, by a preſent.

General Brown has publiſhed a proclamation, forbidding his Troops, under pain of Death, to cut down any Olive Trees; and the Country has thereupon agreed to furniſh him with Firing and Proviſion. His Army is at preſent encamped along the River of Argents, and the Head Quarters are at Frejus, in order to cover the Siege of Antibes which according to ſome Accounts, is blocked up by 12,000 Men on the Land Side, and by an Engliſh Squadron at Sea; according to others, it capitulated on the 11th, and the Auſtrians took Poſſeſſion of it Yeſterday. The Engliſh Fleet has debark'd 8000 Auſtrians at St. Raphael.

Marſhal Belleiſle, though he has received eighteen Battalions of his Reinforcements, has not as yet 25,000 Men. He expects to be joined by the Spaniards, but we cannot ſay exactly when; and the Differences between him and the Marquis de las Minas are as great as ever they were with Marſhal Maillebois. A Detachment of 4000 of our Troops has been very roughly handled. There is a Garriſon of 8000 Men in Toulon, and 400 pieces of Cannon on their Walls but we expect in a few Days to hear that Place is inveſted. This is all that can be depended on at preſent.

Nice, Dec. 19. General Brown gains Ground every Day in Provence. Marſhal Belleiſle is got into Toulon, expecting his Reinforcements, which come in ſucceſſively every Day, and gives out, that when they are all arrived he ſhall have an Army of 60,000 Men, but 'tis thought the Auſtrian General will prevent their Junction, if not prevented by the Genoeſe, who are all up in Arms both in Town and Country, maſſacring all the Auſtrians they can meet with, and have actually obliged the Marquis de Botta, to retire to the Camp before Savona, with the Remains of his Troops. Tho' the Fact be too true, yet the Circumſtances are differently related, however all agree in this, that the Plot was formed by the Priſoner Officers who were at Liberty on their Parole.

[Since the above Accounts were publiſhed, the Auſtrians and Piedmonteſe (after they had taken Antibes and ſome other important Paſſes) have been obliged to repaſs the Var, and return into the County of Nice.]

ADMIRALTY-OFFICE, November 29.

On the 19th Inſtant his Majeſty's Ship the Portland took, 73 Leagues S.W. from Uſhant, a French Frigat called the Subtile, of 26 Guns, 194 Men, and has brought her into Torbay. She had been eighteen Days from Breſt, and was returning thither, without having taken any Thing.

LONDON, November 29.

A private Letter from Madrid of the 27th ult. N.S. runs thus:—We are here in a State of the greateſt Uncertainty and Confuſion imaginable. One Day we are aſſured a Peace is as good as concluded with England: the next, that we are treating with France, and her only.——Be it as it will, 'tis certain the People in general are highly diſſatisfied; ſcarce a Day paſſes, but ſome Tumult or Outrage trage happens. The Day before Yesterday some French Gentlemen meeting to celebrate the Anniversary of the Queen Dowager's Birth, in the Evening the House was surrounded, the Doors forced, and several were killed on each Side. Our Prisons are near full with the Ringleaders of these Riots. 'Tis hoped we shall not long continue in this Situation; which however, is not likely to change for the better, while two Parties are struggling for Prerogative. ——Spaniards are naturally cholerick, and impatient at Delay; they expected long e'er this to be used as Spaniards by King Ferdinand, who must soon either pull off the Mask, or really assume the Character he has so long affected.'

LONDON, December 2.

Extract of a private Letter from Madrid, dated November 18, N.S.

"Since my last of the 27th of October, the Face of Affairs in this Kingdom is much changed for the better. His Majesty however, it's said, is still resolved to do nothing to prejudice the French Nation, unless they look on procuring the Good of his own Subjects in that Light. 'Tis certain the French Interest is greatly sunk in a short Time; and what is very remarkable, the Marquis de M——, who has been a leading Man in most Councils since his Majesty's Accession, appears no more there, and is in a manner vanish'd. According to our best Information, a Plan has been settled here, and sent to Lisbon, for entirely accommodating Matters with England, and including at the same Time the Affairs of Italy. This Plan, 'tis said, is form'd on such a just and equitable Basis as will probably produce a happy Issue to the Nations concerned, of which you may chance to hear more before my next can reach you."

All the Letters from the South of France agree, that the Spaniards have embarked eight of their best Battalions, and 800 dismounted Dragoons at Antibes, from a prospect of securing Naples and Sicily against any Attempts that may be made upon them by the Austrians, and that the rest of their Infantry was marched to join their Cavalry in Savoy. The Royal Infant Don Philip was received so indifferently at Aix that he could not help asking, Whether those who expressed so much Joy on his last coming thither were dead, or had left the Town? The richest Merchants at Toulon and Marseilles have demanded permission of the Goverment to retire with their most valuable Effects, which with some Difficulty was granted them, and they are accordingly removing with the utmost Diligence.

Yesterday Morning an Express arrived at the Admiralty Office from Plymouth, confirming the Account of the Mercury, a French Man of War, belonging to the late Marquis d'Anville's Fleet, being sent in there, by Commodore Boscawen, who took her near Ushant. As she sails well, the French Admiral sent her forward the Day before she was taken, to discover Land; it is hoped therefore, as we have a great Number of Men of War looking out, that we shall have Accounts of more of the said Fleet being sent into our Ports.

The same Day there was Advice, that a Spanish Ship, bound from Barcelona to Cadiz, with Cloathing and Accoutrements for 1,400 Men, is taken by his Majesty's Ships the Royal Oak and Rochuck.

We hear a Treaty is on foot with the Court of Bonn, for taking a Body of the Elector of Cologne's Troops into British Pay, to act with the Allies in Flanders the approaching Spring; and 'tis likewise said, we are negociating for Troops with some other Princes of the Empire, by which Means will be form'd the considerable Augmentation which it had been resolved to make in that Army.

According to the last Letters from Hague, the Earl of Sandwich was to set out again as Yesterday for Breda, in order to come to some Determination with regard to the Assembly there, either by opening the Conferences immediately, or entirely laying aside all Thoughts thereof.

There is great Reason to believe that we shall soon hear the Court of Berlin as warm and hearty in the Common Cause as the most sanguine Hopes can wish.

All the Connoisseurs in Politicks agree, there never was a fairer Opportunity of reducing the Power of France than the present; which if the Allies are unanimous, may be accomplished, and thereby free Mankind from Rapine, and that great Effusion of Blood which they have been the Cause of for some Centuries.

We hear that a very strict Enquiry will be speedily made in respect to the past and present State of the Navy, in order to put the Fleet into as good a Condition as possible, and that too at as reasonable an Expence as may be to the Nation.

LONDON, December 4.

We hear that the eight Regiments of Light Horse commanded by the Earl of Hertford, Sir Philip Honeywood, Duke of Montague, General Wade, Colonel Brown, General Bowles, General Wentworth, and Sir John Legonier, will be obliged to act as Dragoons for the future, being more serviceable, as they are to fight both on Foot and Horseback.

It is said that a Duty of Sixpence will be laid on all Play House Tickets, and that no Person will be admitted to go to any Part of a Theatre without one, and they are likewise to be stamped; And it is likewise said, that a particular Duty will be laid on all Place of publick Resort, such as Ranelagh, Vaux Hall, Ruckholt, Cuper's Gardens, Concerts, &c.

LONDON, December 6.

Extract from a private Letter.

HAGUE, Dec. 16. —— 'His Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, is arrived here in perfect Health, and has been complimented by all Persons of Distinction. General Bathiani is expected in a Day or two; and 'tis said the Duke of Cumberland will spend the Christmas with us; after which he will repair to his Father's Court, with a satisfactory Account ('tis hoped) of his Commission.'

By Letters from Paris, Dec. 8, N. S. we hear, that the Right Hon. the Earl of Moreton was on the 6th removed from the Bastile to his own House, where he remains a Prisoner upon Parole.

LONDON, December 9.

Upon the Elector of Bavaria's disbanding a Part of his Troops, the King of Prussia has sent an Officer into his Dominions, in order to engage in his Service all the most able Men, that are willing to continue in the Army: Whence it appears, that this Monarch, notwithstanding the Satisfaction lately given him, has no Thoughts of making any Reduction in his own Troops.

The French are so busy in fortifying Antwerp, Vilvorden, Mechlin and Louvain, that they seem resolved to form a new Frontier, which will give the Allies a great deal of Trouble in case they should next Spring be superior in the Field.

Very lately died in Retirement, Sir Orlando Bridgman, Bart. a few Years ago appointed Governor of Barbados, but never went there.

Yesterday Charles Ratcliffe, Esq; was executed on Tower-Hill, pursuant to his Sentence, and made his Exit with great Decency and Composure of Mind.

This unfortunate Gentleman, Brother to the late Earl of Derwentwater, was convicted of High Treason in 1716, but afterwards escaped out of Newgate, and had ever since resided in Foreign Parts, where he married the Relict of Lord Newburgh of the Kingdom of Scotland, by whom he had a Son, prisoner with him in the Tower, who by a late Act of Parliament is incapacitated, on Account of his being bred in a foreign Dominion, and a Roman Catholick, from ever enjoying the affluent Fortune of that ancient Family.

CHARLES-TOWN, April 13.

On Friday last arrived here 47 Indians of a very potent Nation, and who have hitherto always lived in Enmity with his Majesty's Subjects, but are now come to sollicit for Peace, and encourage English Traders to settle among and supply them with Goods, giving great Assurances of Fidelity and good Treatment.

Just now a Vessel is arrived from Providence, which confirms the Account we had in our last of Capt. Lemprier's having taken 4000 Piasters out of a Spanish Flag of Truce, one 4th Part whereof belonged to Admiral Reggio.
